Even if you come back, you will never stay in the same room twice – unless of course you want to.

Make your visit extra special and spend your days in style at Hotel de ART, a design hotel in Section 7, Shah Alam. i-City and Bukit Cahaya Botanical Garden are only a stone's throw away from the hotel.

This family-friendly hotel offers a wide range of amenities, such as free Wi-Fi, 32-inch LCD TV with selected Astro channels, hot shower, room service and a complimentary colonial breakfast.

neur and art enthusiast, Jenny Liow.

Despite having no background in interior design (she holds a medical degree), this former doctor was able to give each room a unique look by using different wallpapers, bed frames, paintings and lights.

The idea of creating a different and unique hotel captured her mind as she has been a frequent traveller since young and is bored by the similarly designed anonymous hotels across the world.

This idea finally materialised when her parents decided to venture into the hotel business a few years ago.

Liow, who was practising medicine in Seremban Hospital at that time, felt that it was her "calling" and an opportunity to break away from the hectic life of a houseman officer.

She volunteered to manage the hotel and despite initial objections from her parents, they finally gave in and encouraged her to follow her passion.

Hotel de Art is founded with one mission in mind – to provide guests with a different experience, one that will stimulate your senses, perceptions and transport you to a whole new world.

Therefore, hotel rooms extend beyond previous design boundaries to provide guests with that extra edge, while providing modern comfort. It believes in keeping guests satisfied and providing quality service and accommodation at a very competent price.

As an exquisite boutique hotel, Hotel de ART stands to shine as one of Shah Alam's most desirable locations for short or long stays in the city.
